Young Pilot Used Chute After Blast

Jet Exploded While Over High Sierra,
Was Reported Dead

CASTLE AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Air Force Lt. David A. Steeves grinned through his eight-week beard today and told how he lived 54 days in the night-frozen High Sierra after parachuting from his plane May 9.

"I feel pretty good now," he said. "I had a lot of pain in my legs most of the time. I was just trying to live."

Three weeks ago the Air Force had reported him dead.

Down 50 or 60 pounds from his normal 195, the 23-year-old pilot from Trumbull, Conn., was brought here today from Sequoia National Park, where he had stumbled onto a pack party.

"Had Faith in Lord"
"I wasn't religious when I went in there, but it was faith in the Lord that brought me out," he said.

In Trumbull, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steeves, said the family had never given up hope although the Air Force had sent them a death certificate and reported their son could not have survived in an area where there was still eight feet of snow.

"I put my faith and trust in God and He certainly did a good job of it," Mrs. Steeves said. Steeves' wife Rita, also in Trumbull, exclaimed: "It's true! It's true! It's marvelous! I don't know what to say. It certainly is marvelous! I'm not making much sense, am I?"

Steeves' grim story began shortly after he left May 9 from Hamilton Air Force Base, near San Francisco, for Luke AFB, Ariz., en route to his home base at Craig AFB, Selma, Ala.

He said he never knew what happened to the T33 jet trainer he was flying solo.

"It just exploded," he told his mother over the telephone.

He said he was knocked out briefly and bailed out when he came to.

He landed at the 17,000-foot level, where there was still much ice and snow.

"I banged up both my ankles pretty bad," he said. "For about a day, I couldn't move. Then I was able to crawl." He had his flight jacket to wear over his summer uniform, and wrapped himself in his parachute at night.

"I was cold without the chute. I was cold with it. I was cold the whole time I was there," he said. "It's a miracle I didn't get frostbite."

Found Ranger's Cabin
Steeves said he crawled, hobbled and slid about 12 miles in 15 days until he found a ranger's cabin (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Hundreds Hunt For Lost Child In Dense Woods

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP)—A heavy rain fell in a wooded area west of here last night as some 1,700 volunteers turned out with lights to look for a 5-year-old girl missing since Saturday evening.

The girl, Cheryl Lea Johnston, was barefoot and clad only in a swimming suit when she disappeared from a children's picnic at Finley Bend on the Rogue River in Matson State Park.

Searchers said there were three possible explanations of the disappearance. The child may have drowned in the nearby river, she may have been picked up by a passing motorist, or she may be hidden by the underbrush that chokes the woods.

'Operation Alert' Started, Ike And Staff To Evacuate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first phase of Operation Alert 1957 already is under way.

The fourth nationwide civil defense exercise is scheduled to be in full swing in mid-July.

But White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told news- men yesterday that for two weeks, certain key officials have been at work manning and equipping secret relocation centers. From these centers, picked government teams will direct simulated recon- struction and a mock war effort in the wake of an assumed nuclear attack on the United States.

At one stage of the exercise, Hagerty said, President Eisen- hower and his staff will be flown to a secret command post. They will be carried there by a fleet of 14 helicopters.

Hagerty said Eisenhower probably will spend less than a day at the emergency White House before returning to Washington. The day and hour of his trip have not yet been determined.

The simulated attack by "en- emy" bombers is set for July 12. On that day, Washington and scores of other cities will be "de- stroyed." This will begin phase 2 of the operation — a three-day period of pretended rescue, relief and evacuation.

Aid To Allies Approval Set, Hayes Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) said today he be- lieves the foreign aid bill will pass the House pretty much as ap- proved by the House Foreign Af- fairs Committee.

Hays, a senior committee Dem- ocrat, was sponsor of a surprise move in closed committee session yesterday which gave President Eisenhower a partial victory in his request for long-term aid au- thority.

The House group then went on to approve, 22-6, a $3,242,333,000 foreign aid authorization bill for the new fiscal year. This is about 600 million dollars below what Eisenhower sought and 475 mil- lions less than voted by the Sen- ate.

Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) called the House committee's bill "better" than the Senate's ver- sion and said the measure would probably be brought up for House action by the end of next week.

The bill would authorize 400 mil- lion dollars less than the $1,900,000,000 Eisenhower asked for arms aid this year and 200 mil- lions less than the 900 millions he sought for economic help to coun- tries which also get U. S. military assistance. It also rejects much of the long-range aid authority the President requested.

But Gordon said the committee bill is still big enough to help "make our country secure and sound and also make our allies secure from Soviet domination."

Eight Killed In Collision Of Two Cars

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (AP)—A two-car collision killed eight per- sons late last night and left two others in serious condition.

Five of the dead were soldiers, apparently on leave.

They were identified as James L. Sleen, 23, Pensacola, Fla.; Donnie Reason, about 25; Hubert Goessman, 22; William Brown, 21; and William Irwin, about 25, all believed to have been from Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Coroner Hugh Thomas said the soldiers' eastbound car "may have been on the wrong side of the road." He said an inquest probably will be held tomorrow.

The other dead passengers in the westbound car were identified as Conrad Miller, 21, of nearby Green River; his recent bride, Karen, 18, a telephone operator in that city; and Mrs. Barbara Whitley, about 19, also of Green River.

Forrest Whitley, her husband and a man as yet unidentified but believed to have been in the sol- diers' car were rushed to Sweet- water Memorial Hospital here in serious condition.

Dulles 'Hopes' Arms Cutting Pact Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today a world- wide disarmament system can be worked out even though Commu- nist China is barred from the basic treaty.

Dulles told a news conference a disarmament program could be based on the pre-supposition that Red China would cooperate, and that it would be in Russia's inter- est to try to assure such coopera- tion.

If Red China did not, he added, the fact would become known and other nations could act to protect themselves.

On another phase of world af- fairs, Dulles said the United States government believes that what he called Communist despot- ism in Russia will eventually give way to a rule of much greater freedom through a process of revolutionary change.

In a speech at San Francisco last Friday, Dulles had said that he considered Communist oppres- sion, a "passing phase" in China.

He had related this to be the prob- lem of U. S. recognition of Red China, which he rejected as a part of the question under present con- ditions.

On the same theme, Dulles said today he thought changes in Rus- sia toward greater internal free- dom would be evolutionary where- as in China there are more ele- ments of a revolutionary nature.

Bonn Turns Down Nuclear Program

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German Parliament failed today in its second attempt to pass legislation on the nation's nuclear energy program.

The Bundestag (lower house) refused to give the necessary two-thirds majority to a bill amending the Constitution so legislation could be passed to permit develop- ment of nuclear power for peace- ful purposes.

Last Thursday the vote fell two short of the 332 two-thirds. This was described as an "accident" because too many deputies were absent.

Vote Nears On Defense Money Bill

Senate Approval Of Appropriation Seen By Nightfall

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate lead- ers predicted passage today of the biggest appropriations bill of the session — the $34,534,229,000 de- fense money measure.

Leaders said they expect pas- sage in just the form the bill came from the senate appropri- ations committee.

That group put back into the bill $971,594,000 of the $2,565,275,000 in reductions voted by the House. Differences will be worked out in a conference.

President Eisenhower asked restoration of only about $1,200,000,000 of the House cuts. The ad- ministration regarded the remain- der as largely bookkeeping trans- actions which would not affect spending in the year ahead.

One Democrat, Sen. Douglas of Illinois, urged the Senate to ac- cept the House cuts. He announced he would offer an amendment to have the Senate take these reduc- tions, but then add 500 million dol- lars to the measure for Army and Marine combat troops.

In yesterday's debate, Douglas charged the armed services with "fantastic" and "shocking" waste. He read from dozens of con- tracts which he said showed money was spent for swimming pools, diaper service, golf courses and other items he described as luxu- ries.

Sen. Chavez (D-NM), in reply to a question from Sen. Morse (D-Ore.), said the fly-over of planes which the Air Force staged last Saturday for Gen. Na- than F. Twining cost $400,000 just for fuel. But Chavez defended it as a worthwhile training exercise.

Democrats Urge Approval
Sen. Symington (D-Mo), former secretary of the Air Force, and Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) both urged the Senate to approve the Appropriations Committee restorations.

Jackson said Senators were de- luded if they felt the money in the bill was all that was needed for defense. More will have to be devoted in supplemental measures to pay "for the modern and bal- anced defense we need," he said.

Cleanup Job Slowed In Hurricane Sector

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Mass removal and burial of hur- ricane dead from the ravaged Gulf Coast of Louisiana went on today. But mounting misery beset cleanup workers and slowed their progress.

The Red Cross reported of Camer- on, the little fishing village that was the focal point of last Thurs- day's great storm: "It is well nigh impossible for even the strongest of men to stay in the place, much less work."

A check showed 267 bodies brought out so far from the dis- aster area in the southwestern tip of the state. The first batch of unidentified dead were consigned late yesterday to mass graves, with a common headstone as their memorial.

The latest estimate of total dead from Hurricane Audrey's to- tal death toll was 500. It was made by Val Peterson in a telephone re- port to President Eisenhower. Peterson, former head of the na- tion's civil defense, was sent here as the President's personal rep- resentative on the scene.

Damage to crops, buildings and livestock was incalculable. Some- idea of its multimillion-dollar to- tal came from oil editor Jeff Davis of the New Orleans Times- Picayune. He estimated damage to petroleum properties alone at 20 million dollars.

A big crane lifted 47 handmade pine coffins into part of a 150-foot trench at a Negro burial ground as mass burials got under way.

"Over a hundred graves," gasped a woman onlooker as she surveyed the expanse of open earth. "Oh Jesus! Christ have mercy on us."

A Roman Catholic priest con- signed the white unidentified dead to a separate grave, pronouncing a eulogy in the French patois of the region.

Jap 'Friend' Asks Money After Rites

Girard Not Present For Ceremony Held Under Nippon Law

By KAY TATEISHI

CAMP WHITTINGTON, Japan (AP)—William S. Girard and his Japanese fiancée were married to- day—and promptly found them- selves the target of a shakedown attempt by a shopkeeper who had posed as their friend.

Fukuji Shimizu, 34, promoter of a "forgive Girard" campaign and identified by police as a paroled extortioner, demanded two mil- lion yen ($5,000) as "condolence money" for the family of the Japanese woman the 21-year-old GI is accused of killing Jan. 30.

Bride Receives Demand
The demand was lodged with the bride, Mrs. Haru (Candy) Gi- rard, 27, less than three hours after she had filed at the U. S. Embassy in Tokyo the papers which made her Girard's wife un- der Japan's laws.

Looking forward to their real marriage Friday when they kneel at the white chapel in this U. S. army base, Candy found Shimizu waiting for her when she returned from Tokyo to her home village.

Shaken and in tears, she told newsmen of the encounter: "He told me 'The people of Sonagahara are angry at you for marrying Girard. You must pay two million yen condolence money to Mr. Akikichi Sakai.'"

Sakai is the husband of the 46-year-old "scrappiest scavenger" killed by an empty cartridge case fired from a grenade launcher on the U. S. firing range near Soma- gahara.

The weeping girl said she was in an embarrassing position be- cause she felt indebted to Shimizu "for asking the Japanese to help my man." He announced two weeks ago that he was launching a drive for 100,000 Japanese signatures to a petition asking that Japanese authorities acquit or pardon the youth from Ottawa, Ill.

Informed of the police identi- fication of Shimizu as a paroled extortioner, however, Candy cried angrily: "Don't say that. I don't want to hear it. He has been kind to me."

Shimizu himself confirmed that he had asked for the payment. He told newsmen he had talked to 30 villagers about asking for the money, but said he had not talked directly to Sakai. The wid- ower could not be reached for comment.

Army Offers Protection
U. S. Army authorities at Camp Whittington offered Candy pro- tection on the base. She will spend the night with Sgt. and Mrs. Gilbert Saylor of New Market, Va. Girard, who said earlier he would not consider himself mar- ried (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Heroic Airman Dies In Plunge Of Old Bomber

CALABASAS, Calif. (AP)—A pilot who said he'd never drop a plane on someone's house rode a flam- ing plywood bomber across the populous San Fernando Valley to his death yesterday.

James Keith Gibbs, 31, died in the crash of a war-surplus British Mosquito bomber.

The twin-engine craft dived into a canyon and exploded about 30 air miles northwest of Los An- geles.

Gibbs had a parachute and, evi- dently thinking of using it, re- leased his escape hatch. It fell on the grounds of Pierce Junior College in the valley.

Positive Thinking Aided Woman Survive Ordeal

ALPINE, Tex.—A sturdy blonde woman who said she used positive thinking and the 23rd Psalm to keep her courage up was found yesterday after six days of struggling for survival in the burning jungle of rock and sand south of here.

"I got so hot I was frothing at the mouth," Mrs. Wilma White, 46, of Houston, Tex., said of part of her struggle through the Big Bend National Park of West Texas. "I kept repeating the 23rd Psalm: 'Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death...'"

"It made me feel a little cooler," she said.

She was spotted yesterday from the air and reached later by horsemen at the tiny cave and trickling spring which sheltered her from temperatures as high as 115 degrees.

Her husband had died in what appeared to be a vain attempt to find her after she set out for help when their station wagon bogged in the sand near the Rio Grande. They had gone into the rugged Pinta de la Sierra range last Tuesday to gather cactus for their garden.

The tall, blue-eyed blonde was badly sunburned and scratched, but not in serious condition.

"I always felt someone would find me," she told relatives.

"You know, I am a believer in positive thinking... at a time like this you cannot lose your head and get frantic. When I saw I was in a fix I figured the best thing to do was stay with the water, and that's what I did."

She said she found the cave and tiny water hole the second day she was lost and decided to stay until someone found her. She said she used rocks to keep her nails pared and combed her blonde hair by using the pool as a mirror.

She said she kept track of the days by placing rocks on a ledge.

She ate only a few cactus berries during her ordeal, but said she didn't feel very hungry most of the time.

Five Indicted In Abortions

ARLINGTON, Va.—Five persons were indicted yesterday on charges of abortion in North Arlington. Commonwealth's Atty. William J. Hassan charged they were part of an operation that netted more than $300,000 a year.

Indicted were Julian W. Cooper and his wife Anna, both 55; Dan Drummond and his wife Mildred; and Helen E. Grimes, 58.

Hassan said the abortions allegedly were performed in the Coopers' $40,000 home.

The Coopers pleaded innocent at arraignment and were released on $5,000 bond each.

Police continued a search for Mrs. Grimes and the Drummonds, who lived in Fairfax County.

Cadets, Girls Reach Safety On Boat Ride

LA PLATA, Md.—Two West Point cadets and two teen-agers drifted to safety in a disabled motor boat today, ending an overnight search of the lower Potomac River.

"We drifted from about 4:45 yesterday afternoon until the boat beached 10 miles downstream at Westmoreland State Park on the Virginia side about 3:30 this morning," Cadet Robert Totten, 18, of Colorado Springs, Colo., related.

He said the outboard motor ran out of gasoline in midstream as they were returning from Colonial Beach, Va. to the Wayside, Md., summer home of Lt. Gen. E. J. Cummings, chief of Army Ordnance, who is Totten's uncle. The boat belonged to Cummings.

The other cadet was James Kane, 18, of Salida, Colo. He and Totten were on leave from the U.S. Military Academy. The girls were Jane Doherty, 18, and Lynn Wienecke, 17, both of Arlington, Va. Lynn's father is Maj. Gen. Robert Wienecke.

A Coast Guard and police search was called off when the piches and the girls made their way to the home of Mrs. Julian S. Hinson near Westmoreland State Park, Va. and telephoned their safety.

Mrs. Wienecke said her husband, searching for the Potomac from a light plane, spotted the missing boat shortly after her daughter telephoned home.

Totten said the group took off from his uncle's home about 2:30 p.m. yesterday for Colonial Beach. "We swam until about 4 p.m.," he said. "Then we started back. About midstream we ran out of gasoline. It got very cold during the night and we wrapped ourselves in beach towels."

"We saw two freighters and a cabin cruiser and tried to signal them by waving a white towel and jar but without success."

emergency log cabin tool shed at Simpson Meadows. He crossed an 11,000-foot pass regarded as almost impassable and then descended to the 6,000-foot level.

He said he had nothing to eat during these 15 days, "but I had no trouble with water."

He said he didn't have a survival kit, as first reported. And as for survival training: "I had very little—wasn't even a Boy Scout."

In the cabin he found canned hash and canned beans, and some sugar. After two days he tried to travel again, but spring thaws had swollen the Kings River and he was forced to turn back.

He lost all sense of time, he said, but found two rusty fish hooks on the ground and "on some days I was able to catch fish, hailing the hooks with grubs."

He found some garden snakes which he cooked and ate—but couldn't find any rattlesnakes, which he was hunting. They're larger and much meatier.

Last Sunday the water had gone down and he started out again, his ankles much improved. He encountered two pack-hikers, Albert Ade of Orange Grove and Dr. Charles Howard, a Fresno dentist.

Ade took him to Cedar Grove ranger camp, where he telephoned his family.

Yank To Face French Trial For Shooting

PARIS.—The U. S. Army said today 21-year-old Specialist 3, C. DelWayne McOsker, who faces trial for murder in French courts, is from Manhasset, Long Island.

McOsker, turned over to the French by U. S. Army authorities, could get death on the guillotine if convicted by a French jury.

An Army spokesman said he had confessed the fatal shooting of an Algerian in an argument over payment of two cartons of tax-free army cigarettes.

McOsker's address had been given earlier as Oak Hill, W. Va., but an Army spokesman said this had appeared on his first enlistment papers. The second papers carried the Manhasset address.

The army said it would provide legal aid and lawyers for McOsker as provided by American law.

Airman Dies In Delaware Auto Mishap

DOVER, Del.—One airman was killed and three others stationed at Dover Air Force Base were injured today when their car ran off the road and struck a pole in Frederica, nine miles south of here.

State Police identified the victim as Airman 2.C. Jack Mason, 25, who died of internal injuries. John Harrington, 20, was transferred to the Philadelphia Naval Hospital in critical condition with a skull fracture, fractures of the left arm and leg and multiple lacerations.

John Brenner, 20 and Paul H. Knollinger, were hospitalized at the Dover base hospital. Brenner had face lacerations and possible fractures of the left shoulder and left leg. Knollinger suffered lacerations and possible fracture of the right knee.

State Police said the car driven by Knollinger was eastbound, traveling at an excessive rate of speed on Davis street in Frederica when it missed a curve and struck the utility pole.

Mason's death was the 43rd in Delaware this year, two more than were killed in the same period last year.

Screen Actress Files For Mexican Divorce

EL PASO, Tex.—Actress Sherree North filed suit for divorce from Bud Freeman in Juarez, Mexico, yesterday, a court official said. The actress was expected to arrive here later this week.

The couple married Feb. 20, 1955, and separated last March. Miss North is charging incompatibility and mental cruelty, it was reported. Freeman is not expected to contest the suit.

Mayor Loses Dublin Post Due To Luck

DUBLIN.—The luck of the draw has cost Dublin's only Jewish lord mayor in history, Robert Briscoe, the job he won for him a year ago.

Members of the Dublin City Council balloted last night to fill the top municipal post for the coming year. Briscoe and independent Alderman James Carroll tied with 21 votes each. Following tradition, their names went into a hat—and Carroll's came out first.

Briscoe, who captured Americans' hearts during a seven-week tour of the United States this year, took his defeat in stride.

"I have had a very hectic year," he told the Council. "Though I said last year I would only accept one term, I was prevailed upon to go forward again. I wish the new lord mayor every success in his office."

At the new mayor's request, the Council gave Briscoe a rising vote of thanks for the good will he won for Ireland during his recent American tour.

Nasser Hits U.S. Policy In Talk On British TV

LONDON.—Britain's commercial television network last night featured a 20-minute interview with President Nasser of Egypt.

The Egyptian leader defended his country's acceptance of Soviet arms, expressed hope that Egypt and Britain will be friends again and warned that U.S. policy will turn nationalists into Communists.

The interview was filmed last Friday in the garden of Nasser's Cairo home. Speaking in English, Nasser appeared nervous when the questions began but gained poise as the interview went along.

He said Britain and Egypt "have to return to normal relations."

"I'm sorry about the period of bad relations between Britain and Egypt," he continued, "and I hope both countries will work for good relations in order to be friendly again."

Nasser described Egypt's foreign policy as one of "nonalignment," similar to India's. He said Egypt "purchased Communist arms to defend itself 'against aggression.'"

Asked about Egypt's recent acquisition of three Soviet submarines, Nasser said "We want to build up our navy as we build our army and our air force... Why not have submarines?"

Nasser said communism in Egypt is illegal, "but dealing with Russia is another thing."

The Egyptian President said he thought President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine was mistakenly directed against nationalist movements in the belief such movements were Communist.

"There is no spread of communism in the Middle East," Nasser said. "But the Americans insist that nationalism is communism and try to stand against nationalism, thinking they are standing against communism. They will turn the nationalists to be Communists."

Nasser said the question of Israel ships using the Suez Canal could not be isolated from the whole Palestine problem and was linked with such matters as "the rights of Arabs of Palestine who were expelled from their territory."

Asked if he wanted to see Israel destroyed, Nasser said there is a "difference between the rights of the Arabs in Palestine and the destruction of Israel."

"I don't believe in war and I don't believe any small country can raise war," he added. "We have said before we are ready to accept the United Nations resolution of 1947—that is, to give the Arabs their rights and to give the Jews their rights."

A 1947 U.N. resolution set up boundaries for a partition of Palestine into Israeli and Arab states and the internationalization of Jerusalem. The Arabs rejected the plan at the time, and Israel also has refused it since the Palestine War.

Boggs Hints Session Due

DOVER, Del.—Gov. J. Caleb Boggs has called a meeting tomorrow with the Legislature's presiding officers to determine if the General Assembly will be reconvened.

The assembly recessed last Tuesday until January after beating down a number of bills labeled "must" legislation by members of both parties.

July 8 has been mentioned as a likely recall date.

Included in the sidetracked legislation was a $45 million dollar school construction bill, an omnibus bond measure and appropriations for highway improvements.

Under the recess, Curtis W. Steep, president pro tem of the Senate, and Harry E. Mahew, speaker of the House, have authority to reconvene the assembly.

NEW YORK.—Capt. Allan Villiers and his doughty crew of the Mayflower II sail up Broadway today for the city's traditional ticker-tape greeting.

Air Pollution Study Slated At City Sites

Boilers At Plants, B&O To Be Checked, Mayor Eves Reveals

Mayor Roy W. Eves has announced that an engineering firm is to make a survey of fly ash and smoke problems here.

The detailed survey will be made by combustion experts of Resources Research Inc., Washington, D. C.

The firm will be asked, Mayor Eves said, to determine if the city's air pollution ordinance is being complied with, and to fix the responsibility for any violations.

Complain Of Ash

Tentative plans for the survey were being made early this month when a delegation of some 50 workers from the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant drove to City Hall to complain of damage to their cars from fly ash coming from the River plant of the Potomac Edison Company.

The survey will include the power houses of the Kelly and Potomac Edison plant, major industries here which burn powdered coal.

Both of the plants are equipped with dust collecting equipment. Another point Mayor Eves will ask the experts to determine if the plants meet the city ordinance, is whether they stack up satisfactorily with other coal burning installations.

Petition Submitted

Meanwhile, some 37 residents of the Maryland Avenue area submitted a petition to City Hall, complaining of smoke from three coal-burning boilers operated by the B & O Railroad in that area.

Mayor Eves said the complaint is being checked and that the engineering firm will be asked to include the B & O boilers in the survey.

The railroad, he added, will be asked to make necessary changes in its equipment if the survey shows violations.

Several years ago, after local railroads switched to Diesel power and hundreds of domestic heating plants were converted to gas, the city inactivated its air pollution department but included $10,000 in the budget to finance needed smoke engineering studies.

The item was left out of the last two budgets but would have come out of the contingent fund if studies had been made.

Mother Receives Suspended Term

A local mother yesterday afternoon was found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of her children and received a suspended sentence to the Maryland Reformatory for Women in Juvenile Court.

Magistrate Fred H. Anderson said the case came to light several days ago when two brothers were brought before the court for fighting over a switch-blade knife.

Testimony at the boys' hearing revealed conditions at the home which brought about the charge of contributing against the mother.

The magistrate explained the woman is a widow who receives monthly insurance payments but had been spending her money to "keep" a man who was living in her house, at the expense of her two sons, 16 and 17, and a 12-year-old daughter.

She was ordered to cease having anything to do with the man and to provide adequately for her children.

New Armory Will Be Built, Beall Advised

Sen. J. Glenn Beall says he has been assured that the Cumberland Army Reserve Training Center will be constructed as planned although there's a possibility a new site may have to be selected.

The Senator said the Army Engineers yesterday explained to him that a drainage and water supply problem at the Vocke Road site had caused a temporary suspension of the project.

Last Friday, Army Engineers officials said construction of the armory had been postponed indefinitely because of difficulties in selecting a site, although the Vocke Road tract was bought last year.

Sen. Beall said money for the job is available and there seems no doubt the armory will be built, although it may take a little time to iron out difficulties.

An Army Engineers official, meanwhile, told The Associated Press in Washington that the problems at the site resulted in further studies to see whether adjustments can be made to keep the work within the authorized cost figure.

The official said engineers are looking for places where cuts could be made to fit the project into the financial framework provided.

Early estimates of the construction cost put it at about $150,000, but industry sources later figured it would be nearer $250,000.

The armory, which will provide training area for about 200 Army reservists, is scheduled to be 156 by 46 feet, with a 70-by-50-foot assembly wing and a 47-by-53 foot maintenance shop.

The Vocke Road site covers about five acres adjoining the State Roads Commission district headquarters.

Juvenile Judge Urges Parents To Be Stern

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland juvenile judge believes there would be less delinquency if parents would stop trying to be "pals" to their teenage children.

Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Waldman says: "I'm sick and tired of fathers coming into court and telling me they gave their sons this and that because they wanted to be pals."

"What we need is a little of that sternness that marked the father of the Victorian Age when children knew who was boss."

Two Local Drivers Given Jail Terms

Magistrate J. Milton Dick yesterday sentenced two motorists to six months in the Allegany County Jail when they were found guilty of operating vehicles while under the influence of liquor or drugs.

Magistrate Dick imposed the sentences on the two drivers after noting it was a second offense for each.

Magistrate Dick fined William Lloyd Shives, 40, of RD 2, Hancock, $150 and costs for driving under the influence, and another $100 and costs for driving on a revoked license. Shives was given another 90 days in jail in default of fines.

Marshall J. Alexander, 50, of 215 East Oldtown Road, a local cab driver, was fined $150 and costs on the charge of operating his cab while under the influence, and another $50 and costs on a reckless driving charge. A third charge of failure to identify himself after an accident was dismissed.

Alexander's cab collided with another vehicle at the intersection of Greene and Lee Streets.

Alexander appealed the sentence and is being held in Allegany County Jail on $500 bond for his appearance in Allegany County Circuit Court on the appeal.

The two cases were among 27 tried on the motor docks of Magistrates Dick and Donald W. Mason yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court. More than $700 in fines and costs were assessed by the two magistrates, including another $100 fine against a Frostburg man for operating a vehicle on a revoked license.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Anybody's Guess

TRADITIONALLY, the extracurricular dolings at the annual governors' conference are always more important than the items on the agenda. And the extracurricular dolings are always politics. We are only half a year into President Eisenhower's second term, yet the talk at the recent Williamsburg, Va., meeting centered on 1960 presidential speculation. There wasn't much on the Republican side. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California said he wasn't going to run for either the presidency or the Senate (in 1958). Thus he indicated he would have another go at the governorship, whether or not retiring Sen. William F. Knowland enters the field.

OBVIOUSLY SUCH a race, if it actually came to pass, would have a substantial bearing on Knowland's prospects for the GOP nomination and on the future condition of the Republican party in California, second biggest state in the land. The guessing was a bit livelier among the Democrats. One member of Congress, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, appeared to find favor with a good many governors, particularly from southern states. Inevitably a lot of the governors in attendance heard their names bruited about, and a few of them gave the ball an extra swat themselves. Those which cropped up most often were Govs. Robert Meyner of New Jersey, George Leader of Pennsylvania, Frank Clement of Tennessee and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

BY THE TIME honored political test of acceptability—willingness of all segments of a party to take a candidate—two of these four probably will have tough sledding. Clement appears to have little standing with northern Democrats. Williams, heavily identified with CIO leaders in Michigan, will prove acceptable not only to the South but in wide areas of the North. Meyner clearly would be a man to be reckoned with should he win smashing re-election this fall. Leader, a less positive type, can't run for re-election in 1958 and would have to capture a Senate seat to stay in the limelight. Anyway, it's good to know that the boys are busy practicing the art they know so well—figuring the main chance.

Grim Prediction

THERE IS something terribly grim about the fact that the National Safety Council can forecast with reasonable accuracy the number of people who will be killed on streets and highways on a big holiday weekend like the Fourth of July. The people to whom death will come know the danger in advance, but the tragedy happens anyway. Perhaps it would not be quite so inescapable if drivers would pay close heed to the council's study of traffic accidents last Labor Day weekend. If you would come through the holiday period safe and sound, then: Don't speed and don't drink. Speed was a factor in 71 per cent of accidents, drinking in almost half. Be especially cautious at the outset of a trip, and in the dark evening hours. Accidents are most frequent at these times. And take care in the open country, for there most of the mishaps occur. Constantly attend to your job of driving. Drivers usually are the accident victims, and single driver accidents are most common.

Wait For Help

MANY AUTO accident victims suffer concussion, shock, internal injuries or a combination of such misfortunes. In such cases, to move the patient before medical help arrives is often the worst thing that could be done. Yet in many instances that is exactly what is done. In our time, there is little excuse for any adult not to know at least the rudiments of first aid. Training is available in most communities, and easily understood books or pamphlets on the subject can be obtained with little trouble. Under these circumstances, it is almost inexcusably ignorant to urge a dazed accident victim to walk, or to bundle him willy nilly into a car for transportation to the hospital. Often enough, such foolhardy acts merely aggravate the effect of injuries. In some cases, moving the victim before skilled medical help arrives has resulted in the patient's death. As a general rule, an injured person should be kept still, warm and horizontal until the doctor arrives.

Revenge Achieved Through Real Antiques

STURBRIDGE, Mass. — Most people, at one time or a worse in their lives, get skunked, bled, film-flamed on a business deal. It makes them mad as all get out.

Later they usually can laugh a little and drop the incident into that dark, nasty niche of the mind created by whatever Pollyanna it was who said, "Experience is the best teacher."

Not so, though, with antique collectors.

THE STUDENT of aged goods, like the enthusiast of aged whiskey, considers himself a notch above the merchant, not to mention mankind in general. To be sold a bill of fake goods is a personal affront to the integrity. That's why so many antique collectors turn recluses, curled up in Queen Anne chairs reading hieroglyphics; they're sulking.

This is the position in which Albert B. Wells might have found himself back in 1930, when he tried to overcome his restlessness by collecting antiques. The first shop he visited, as a novice, gave him a rather bum deal on a piece of alleged "Americana"—which just wasn't quite.

INSTEAD of barking back at his bilker, or retiring his "beef" to his brain cells, Mr. Wells spent the rest of his life getting even. He became the best goldmine Americana collector in Massachusetts and, eventually, built an entire New England village—full of antiques for all the world to see.

It's called "Old Sturbridge Village," and is a recreation of life among the young and ambitious Americans of the year 1700. To stroll through it (at $1.75 the curious head) takes a day; to study its many lessons in early American life possibly would require years.

THE VILLAGE must be entered on foot across a quick and angry stream, through a covered bridge full of pierced heart carvings. The initials therein are from 20th century lovers—in the early 18th Century, the courting practices were less vandalistic. But the stream was there 250 years ago, and so were many of the ancient buildings beyond which Mr. Wells moved, tenderly, from other parts of New England into this village, plank by plank and nail by nail.

THERE IS the grist mill, the tavern, the smithy's, the wheelwright's. The boot shop, the church and the meeting house.

The herb garden beside the herb barn still grows the stuffs that killed colds every bit as effectively as modern science can, and cured with curses as well. There is columbine for irregularity, anise for fighting nausea, and catnip for gripe.

And, near the church, there's Isaiah Thomas' printing office, where an elderly gentleman, dressed to resemble the late—quite late Isaiah—is rolling off broadsheets on a venerable hand press. Titled, "A Warning to Tipplers."

HUNDREDS of thousands of antiques, all as genuine as the wide eyes of those who stroll through Old Sturbridge each year, are collected here. Of them all, the most popular with man and boy are the stocks and pillory, 18th Century instruments of punishment before which no 20th Century tourist can help but feel lucky—and pose for photographs.

Mr. Wells no doubt would like to have relegated his first antique dealer to this section of the village for occasional flogging.

To the delight of 100,000 people a year, he got even another way. (International News Service)

Life Of U. S. Flood Insurance Agency Ends

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Federal Flood Indemnity Administration will pass out of existence in July—the shortest-lived government agency in history. It never wrote a policy.

FFIA was authorized on the last day of the last session of Congress, without a record vote. It was killed in the House of Representatives 10 months later by the simple process of denying it money with which to operate.

The vote was 58 Republicans and 128 Democrats for a total of 186 votes in favor of keeping the outfit going, to 123 Republicans and 90 Democrats for a total of 213 against it.

What happened to bring about this strange reversal of congressional opinion is the cause for much political speculation. It's a good case history on why things happen the way they do in Washington, defying all rhyme and reason.

THE BIG floods which brought on the demand for flood insurance came after the disastrous hurricane summer of 1955. There were no serious floods in 1956. But they were still cleaning up the debris in 1956. And the memory of what had hit the eastern seaboard from North Carolina to New England made flood insurance a good political talking point for the '56 elections.

Representatives Edward Boland, Frank Thompson Jr., Hugh Scott and Graham Barden, whose states had all been hit hard in '55, led the fight for flood insurance in '56. They put it over in spite of the opposition from Rep. Brent Spence, chairman of Banking and Currency Committee. It breezed through the Senate.

FINANCED in part by presidential emergency funds, a small staff of about 30 experts under former Deputy Housing Administrator Frank J. Meistrall was set up to work out plans. They were all ready with sample policies, rates and a scheme for selling the insurance through 5,000 private indemnity companies and their 150,000 agents, shortly after Congress came back to town. They hoped to be in business by June.

They asked for 100 million dollars to start operations. When the economy wave hit, they cut it to 50 million. In the end they said they could get started for 14 million.

BUT A HOUSE Appropriations Subcommittee still held back. Rep. Albert Thomas, chairman of the group, thought it would become a raid on the treasury. Though FFIA wanted only 14 million dollars to start operating, for that amount of money they could write five billion dollars' worth of flood insurance. And maybe they would obligate the treasury for damage appropriations for that amount, year after year.

When the new spring floods hit Texas, Oklahoma and parts of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas earlier this year, after years of drought, it was thought this would create new pressure for flood insurance. To everyone's surprise, it didn't.

MUCH OF THE damage was to river bottom land which could not be insured. City property got off relatively light in most places. In this respect it differed from the more populous east.

In the second place, Texas has been going through a series of fly-by-night insurance scandals. This made many people leary of insurance. Also, there had been no insurance offered for drought relief, so people weren't conditioned for flood insurance. Direct relief was what they were looking for.

Finally, there was a good demonstration that the best kind of flood insurance was flood prevention through dams and reservoirs to catch the runoff water and hold back floods.

Army Engineers have a 1.5-billion-dollar flood-prevention program for the six-state southwest area. It has 400 million dollars' worth of projects completed, 600 million more under construction and 500 million authorized but not yet started.

THE COMPLETED works are estimated to have prevented 142 million dollars' additional damage. The authorized works could have prevented another 50 million dollars' damage.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson made a speech about the Texas part of this program. It was the tipoff. It revealed that in this part of the country, a dam in the hand was worth a whole flock of flood insurance in the bushes.

That's why Federal Flood Indemnity Administration got the congressional ax and is being buried.

But if a new series of floods comes along this summer and they want to revive FFIA, the plans are all ready.

Glancing Sideways

STAUNTON, Va. — You, like anyone else on whom the years have piled, had a first love. You probably were 14, maybe 15; and it was the real thing.

You met a girl somewhere, at a party, a dance, across a dinner table or just ambling through an orchard. You saw her and you saw a new light in the sky. You took her hand, in time, with deference and timidity. You walked together and there was a new perfume in the air. It was the kind of magic thing that only happens once.

You never married her. At that age you don't. And then time went by and things came between you: distance, moving away, all kinds of things. Maybe another boy came along and took her away from you, she seeing a different and more compulsive magic there. Or you met another girl and the same thing happened to you. It happens a lot when you are young.

SHE LIVED here. She still does. I won't use her name, it wouldn't be right to do so. But in the 40 years since, I have never driven through, trained into or flown into Staunton that I haven't thought of her and wondered what time had done, what happiness, grief, disappointment, triumph and joy had come to her. Once, flying from California, an early morning storm took us a little off-course and at first light we were directly over Staunton. Using landmarks, long and endearingly familiar, I found the long, uphill street and fancied from 5,000 feet above, I almost could see the house itself. I don't know. Maybe I did. It was gray, Victorian and lovely and I knew where it should be. I looked there and saw a roof that resembled it. Who knows? In a few seconds we were far beyond.

WE WERE driving into here this noon in the bright Virginia sun and I said some of these things to my bride.

"Could you find the street and drive right by and know it without any doubt?" she asked.

I said I certainly could. The street had a military academy at one end and her house at the other and there was about three-quarters of a steep mile in between.

"Then let's drive there," she said.

WE TURNED where the south-bound major highway intersects her street and started up, and there, in the next block, was the house. Exactly the same. The same gate and walk, the same color of paint. Fresh and bright today, as it was then.

The flowers were sharp in color and the lawn a perfect green. Two children played on the lawn and, as we drove slowly by, a young woman came out and joined them, smiling happily at them.

"Could they be her grandchildren?" my bride asked. Well, I suppose they could. There's been time enough.

I STOPPED the car on the steep grade, halting across the street. No one else came out. I know she still lives there because she is in the telephone book under the name she took when she was married. I found out about that 10 years after, when passing through in a car and, on the sidewalk, I saw a girl who had known both of us.

"I think you should go in and greet her," my bride said. "I'll wait."

I said, no, I don't think so. I didn't know of anything to say in that house where, once, the whole color and flavor of the world was changed for me. You can't, after all, after 40 years walk into a lady's house in the morning and say to her, with the dignity of 55 years on her: "My dear, you were my first love and I've never forgotten it."

She'd think you were crazy.

Cold Snakes Get Colder

WASHINGTON — In case anybody is interested, aside from the ex-proprietor of a snake farm and myself, the Federal fiscal year has expired and with it has gone the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

This once mightiest of all banks — it loaned billions during its lifetime and was credited in large part with helping lift the nation out of the 1933 Depression — long since had been chopped down to a few clerks, whose job was to liquidate its affairs.

On the final day of the fiscal year they held a little ceremony, complete with TV, flashlights, sad comments and the unbending name of the first of the New Deal's alphabetical agencies.

$37,500,000 to the Lustron Corporation of Columbus, Ohio, which was in the business of building houses of pastel-colored enameled steel. Good houses, too.

But everything seemed to go haywire. It even developed that the first was paying rent for house-delivery purposes on motor trucks which still hadn't even been built. That one was almost a total loss, except for $6,000,000 worth of house factory on which the government, finally got its clutches.

The RFC at one time or another financed breweries and also saloons in which the brew was served. It reached its high point in ineptness, probably, when it loaned $975,000 to a Reno hotel, which used the money to remodel its dining room into a gambling casino.

WELL DO I remember the RFC director defending this one. He said since gambling was legal in Nevada, he saw no reason why the RFC shouldn't finance installation of a few roulette wheels.

Now it's all over, and the management is pleased to report that the RFC shut up shop in a small profit.

Commercial bankers, of course, think otherwise. They insist that had the RFC paid standard interest on the money it borrowed and taxes on its operations, it would have been deep in the red. I have no opinion on this myself, but I'm still sorry about those snakes.

More Faith

WITH THE crises and over-excitement of this era, the diversion of interest and dissipations of time made possible for us by great prosperity, our sense of values sometimes weakens and our faith in reason and intelligence is crippled. Against this we must guard.

We need to retain and hold to a perspective. The values of Western civilization, the values which nourished us as a mother does a child, remain as sound as ever. But they have not attained and never can attain universal acceptance in a hurry.

To hold to them, defend them, deepen them in ourselves, our society and in the world to the degree that we can, is a task and challenge for us. Even though they are under assault today, they retain their strength. They are what men like Khushchev fear and what small dictators like Nasser cannot understand.

A good reading in Jefferson, Hamilton and Lincoln now would help to strengthen our own faith and confidence. For these men — and Jefferson and Hamilton in particular, even though they disagreed — helped to lay the ground for so much that is best in our society. If the attention of school pupils is focused on such of our forefathers as these three, the faith of youth can be deepened.

We have a world to win, not as imperialists or even as rich uncles, but as the carriers of values which can nurture in men the desire for growth and the impulse to use reason. We face a challenge we can meet, the challenge to perpetuate a tradition of freedom in reason. It is good for us to realize this. For these years are very confusing.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That America's motoring litterbugs, it is estimated, will strew 100,000 tons of trash on major highways this holiday weekend... or enough to cover a two-lane road a foot deep for 427 miles.

That Iris Segal, a coiffeur authority, says short hair makes you look younger... but not when like mine it gets so short a near-sighted stranger might think you bald.

That the Vatican, the Pope's residence, is the largest palace in the world.

That aluminum is the most abundant metal in the earth's crust... except in the Pentagon, where brass comes out on top.

THAT IT TAKES 40 minutes to boil an ostrich's egg for proper flavor... this explains why hurried suburbanites rarely have them for breakfast.

That 15 million American men last year smoked 64 billion cigars... and if you have trouble keeping your cigar lit, you might recall that novelist Joseph Hergesheimer wrote, "It (a cigar) will refuse to burn for blatherskites and contentious men."

That the six countries of Western Europe today produce more coal than was mined in the whole world a century ago... yet this year they will have to spend two billion dollars to import fuels to supply their energy needs.

That comic Robert Q. Lewis can't understand why those new two-toned cars need a horn.

That you're probably well read yourself if you know which country has the highest literacy rate... Give up? ... It's Finland — 99 per cent.

THAT THE TARO, a vegetable popular in Cuba, gives a greater yield per acre than potatoes and has up to 10 times the caloric value of rice.

That Irvin H. Kramer has this sign posted in his Hotel Edison office here: "If you wake up and find yourself a success, you haven't really been sleeping."

That a professional gambler can often detect loaded dice by the sound they make when they hit the table... unless, of course, he's rolling his own.

That you deserve a merit badge in ornithology if, offhand, you can name three birds that don't fly... such as the emu, the ostrich, the cassowary, and the downy-throated stool pigeon.

That the federal government's civilian payroll leaped in the last 25 years from less than a billion dollars annually to more than 10 billion... but hasn't everybody's?

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—In 1928, when he was 23 years old, Rep. John Francis Shelley, of California shipped out of San Francisco, as second mate on the freighter West Calera. The ship's first port of call was Ilo Ilo in the Philippines where it took on a cargo of copra and hemp.

It was thrifty work unloading, and when the job was finally completed about 10 p. m., the future elected representative of the people was exceedingly dry. He went ashore and soon located an establishment named the Shamrock Bar. He decided to favor it with his custom for two splendid reasons: (1) the name reminded him of the home of his ancestors; (2) it advertised ice cold beer.

Young Mr. Shelley downed a couple of schooners; and soon built up to a mood of mellowed bonhomie. He invited the man next to him at the bar to be his guest for a beer.

THE BREW WAS drawn, but the invited guest gave a savage swab of the arm and knocked it off the bar. In a voice that was unmistakably English, he snarled that he didn't care to be beholden to the likes of Mr. Shelley for a beer.

With the tact and diplomacy which was to serve him so well after he switched from seaman to statesman, the would-be host surveyed the drink-spiller and said mildly: "Look, Limey, I'm Irish. But we're both far from home. Leave us behave like civilized men and have a beer together. Bartender, two more beers!"

These were set up, and the Englishman knocked them off the bar, too.

"I decided that the appeal to international tolerance had failed," recounted Mr. Shelley, "and that the time had come for direct action. I hit him, and he hit the floor."

"Some considerable commotion followed, and I elected to depart. But, as I reached the door, my way was barred by a large Filipino with a club. I belted him, too, and ran for my ship. I could hear police whistles and came to the close decision that the party with the club had been a cop."

"The local gendarmerie searched the ship, but I had too good a hiding place in the engine room. But I didn't show my face above deck until we were well out of port."

THE YEARS SPED BY. John Francis Shelley became a California State Senator, president of the San Francisco AFL-Central Labor Council, president of the California State Federation of Labor, and in 1949, a Congressman from San Francisco.

He got on the powerful House Appropriations Committee. Recently he was especially assigned to a subcommittee on commerce. In this capacity he made a survey trip to the Far East.

His first stop was the Philippines where he was received with great honor. He toured the island, and eventually came to Ilo Ilo where he was met by a welcoming delegation headed by Lt. Col. Narciso Alino, the chief of police.

Chief Alino introduced him at a formal dinner. Rep. Shelley replied with his well-known graciousness, and then proceeded to recount the saga of his first visit to the island.

When the Congressman got to the part about hitting the policeman, Chief Alino suddenly sat bolt upright and put his hand to his forehead. Then he said to the distinguished guest:

"Shelley, you sure can hit!"

Judge Asks Additional City Petition Data

Additional information has been requested by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris to aid in making a decision in Circuit Court whether sufficient qualified voters signed petitions to justify calling a referendum on the $300,000 urban development bond issue of 1957.

The information is being sought from Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk. The court asked Ullery to give him a breakdown of the categories in which the 161 duplicate signatures were placed. The city clerk had just testified that the 161 duplicates were placed in one category but the first signature of each of these citizens was accepted. These were placed in different categories and not lumped together, he told the court.

Earlier, Ullery had testified that on April 4 he received petitions carrying 4,015 signatures asking the Mayor and City Council to call a referendum on the $300,000 bond issue. He was given the job of verifying the signatures.

The city clerk reported that only 1,324 signatures were identical with the voter registration records. Some 2,548 or 20 per cent of the 12,750 registered voters are needed to justify the referendum. The city has conceded only 2,272, or 276 fewer than are needed to require a referendum. Ullery said that of those not accepted, 1,253 were not registered and 161 others were duplicates. If all others were accepted that would leave 2,601 or 53 more than the minimum needed.

Among those not accepted, the city clerk explained, were 78 who used initials instead of the full name at it appeared in the registration records and whose address also was different. In his follow-up investigation, Ullery contacted 60 of the 78 by phone and another city official contacted 14 of the other 18 in person. Of that group 62 said they signed the petitions, seven were not registered, five were in other categories and four could not be reached.

Ullery, under direct questioning by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, finally discussed the case of 30 women who used their husbands' names in signing the petitions. Twenty-three used their husbands' full names and the other seven used initials. Nine of them were accepted when it was found that a woman was registered at that address. In the other 21 cases no woman voter was registered at the specified address. Mr. Finan informed the court that the city clerk will make a further check to attempt to find the 21 women.

Under cross-examination by Albert A. Doub, attorney for William A. Gunter in the "friendly" suit, Ullery denied that he was checking the petitions to find fault with the signatures. He acknowledged that he and his assistants probably went over the petitions "with a fine tooth comb."

The only other witness yesterday was Reatus L. Spiker, a printer who lives on Uhl Highway. When questioned by City Attorney Finan, Spiker acknowledged that he is not now a registered voter of the City of Cumberland, although he was until about eight years ago.

Spiker explained that he printed some of the petition forms and a group of citizens requested him to circulate the petitions.

He estimated that between 75 and 80 persons participated in the circulation and they were offered 10 cents a name to reimburse them for their time and effort. Most refused remuneration, Mr. Spiker said.

Spiker estimated that no more than five or six persons accepted payment.

Judge Harris did not indicate when he might seek additional testimony. Robert B. Thomas, court stenographer, will continue to take depositions from the 364 persons whose signatures seemed to have been written by the same person or group. Forty boxes of cookies already have been taken.

Piedmont Council Orders Increase In Tapping Fees

Dorman Begins State Duties

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Gov. Cecil Underwood announced 14 appointments to state boards and commissions today, but there was no indication as to when he would make his decision on three major posts in state government.

Underwood told a news conference Saturday that he would decide today on the director of the Department of Veterans Affairs, motor vehicles commissioner and the head of the Department of Public Assistance.

Today's appointments all were made effective immediately. The governor appointed the four members of the new State Board of Sanitation who will examine the qualifications of applicants for positions as public health inspectors.

Among them was Oliver Matthews, Kingwood, term ending June 30, 1960.

Walter C. Gamble, Fairmont, was named to succeed Lee M. Kenna of Charleston on the State Water Commission, term ending June 30, 1963.

Meanwhile, Theodore T. Dorman of Parsons assumed new duties today as the $10,000-a-year, commissioner of public institutions.

City Employees Seek Pay Hike At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Members of the Frostburg Police Department and the Frostburg Street Department appeared before Mayor Joseph James and Council last night and made an appeal for increased pay.

The mayor and members of the council told the men there is little hope of any additional remuneration for them at this time, since the town has insufficient funds and the tax rate is not high enough to justify any additional expenditures.

Mayor James also suggested that if the members of the police force can secure better jobs with better wages they should feel free to do so. He observed, "No job ever gives complete security," and reminded them that large industries in the local area had sometimes found it necessary to drop men who had worked loyally and steadily for 25 to 30 years.

He did hold out one ray of hope, however. He told the town's employees that the council is working on a plan to provide hospitalization insurance for all employees, and that the problem of increased pay will be given future study.

"Inequalities" Charged
Police Chief Lloyd S. Truly read a lengthy statement signed by all members of his department, to open the discussion. The statement noted in part that the question of increased police salaries had been discussed during May 1956 with the mayor and Police Commissioner Franklin Martens and members of the council.

At that time the men were advised no increase was possible but that "we would be given consideration." At various times since, the question has been discussed and the chief noted he had appeared frequently before council asking for more money for his force and for himself.

The statement pointed out that the police are required to work extra time, spend time in court and are often called at their homes on police work, for which they receive no compensation.

Chief Truly also pointed out several "inequalities," and compared salaries and salary increases granted to other city employees. He also made comparisons with the pay of police and the police chief in Cumberland.

Pay Scales Cited
He said the chief of police in Cumberland receives $455.50 per month, while the Frostburg police chief receives $170.50 less pay. He also cited that Frostburg's street superintendent gets $100 more a month than his assistant. Frostburg's city clerk gets $111 more a month than his assistant. Yet, the chief of police in Frostburg gets only $15 more a month than his assistant.

Chief Truly and his men argued that the police department personnel are given less consideration in the pay scale and pay standards than any other department in the town, and much less than is paid for comparable work in other towns.

In addition, he cited, the Frostburg police have no pension or insurance benefits, no incentive pay, no longevity pay or other considerations, as are extended police of other communities and workers in numerous other fields.

He said the Fraternal Order of Police of the United States, in its annual report, shows Frostburg police as the lowest paid in the entire country for cities under 10,000 population.

Officers who signed the statement included Assistant Chief Ronald Kreider, Sgt. Donald Griffith, Sgt. John Kerr, and Patrolmen Walter Eichhorn, Karl Hetz, Donald Miller, James Brickelaw and John Conrad.

All the off-duty men were at the meeting, and each joined in the discussion. Assistant Chief Kreider told the council that he has heard of police pensions and other benefits since 1932, and no council has ever done anything positive about it.

Casey Thompson, representing the street department, asked the council for an increase in wages for the street men, 10 days sick leave with pay and said the men favor an insurance plan.

Several officers will be on duty at the police station Friday from 9 to 5 p. m. to examine and register all bicycles. To pass the examination bikes must be in good working order with no mechanical defects, equipped with a horn or bell and a suitable headlight on the front and a reflector button on the rear. The serial number which is usually stamped on the bottom of the frame near the pedal hanger must be cleaned off and legible so that the officers can read it.

Chief Truly stated that every bicycle operated on the streets of the city must have a registration card and license. Otherwise they will be impounded until a license is secured.

"Operating bicycles on the pavements and on the left side of the streets against traffic will not be tolerated," Truly stated. ### Early Registration 2,110: Banner Year Forecast For City's Playgrounds

A record playground season is indicated by registration at the city's sites last week, Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director, has announced.

Playground directors reported Friday that 2,110 children registered during the first four days of the nine-week season.

Mrs. Hogan said the peak registration is usually reached about the fourth week of the season.

Last year there were 3,293 children and youths who participated in the program, and Mrs. Hogan said it is possible this year's registration may reach the 4,000 mark.

North End Playground enrolled 200 during the four days. This is only 30 less than the total registration last year.

Ridgedale Playground, on the West Side, registered 80 children during the first week, five more

Red Feather Agencies Join Local UF Unit

Two Red Feather agencies have signed contracts with the Allegany County United Fund Inc.

The pact will be executed for the Associated Charities and the Baby Welfare Society by Douglas R. Howie, president, and Miss Jeannette L. Bonig, executive secretary for the Community Chest agencies.

A committee representing the board of directors of the agencies met yesterday in City Hall and voted unanimously to affiliate with the United Fund.

Miss Bonig said the agencies are happy to participate in the one-drive fund campaign program.

The Associated Charities was formed here in 1910 and was financed by membership drives until 1926, when it became a charter member of the Chest.

Its only source of revenue for many years has been the Community Chest. It has been able to offer a holiday program, however, by donations of food, clothing, toys and funds provided by many church and school groups, organizations and individuals.

It offers temporary help to families which have been hit by illness, unemployment or misfortune, and is often the only source of help for those who are waiting for public help.

The Baby Welfare Society, administered by the staff of the Associated Charities, provides milk, vitamins and clothing for children of the Cumberland area.

Chickens, Ham Featured For Feasts On Holiday

By The Associated Press

Firecrackers have been replaced by municipally-sponsored displays of fireworks in many American communities, but one traditional aspect of the Fourth of July celebration—chicken or ham for dinner—will still be honored this week.

Broilers and fryers will be featured in many of the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores, along with smoked and canned hams. The theory behind the offerings of chickens and ham is that they can be served either hot or cold, indoors or out on the holiday. Ham, in addition, is usually good for some extra meals.

The possibility of getting extra meals may be the reason behind larger-than-usual offerings of turkey on the eve of a holiday. Another reason, meat men say, is the large stock of gobblers which makes it possible to offer them at bargain prices.

Some stores will tempt the housewife with special prices on barbecue items such as frankfurters and cube steaks, or sandwich fillers like bologna and other cold cuts.

Potato salad, a staple at many a holiday meal, puts little strain on the housewife's pocketbook this year. California long whites and cobbles from North Carolina and Virginia are available in good numbers at prices which make them an outstanding buy. Escarole and chicory are in the same category, along with new, bunched beets from nearby fields, new green cabbage and green or yellow squash.

Lettuce is rated as a good buy this week, although showing a wide range in quality and condition which calls for careful selection by the shopper. Other salad staples such as tomatoes, onions, cucumbers and peppers are moderately priced. Other vegetables in the good buy range in most places include snap beans, celery and sweet corn in areas where it's available from nearby farms.

Watermelons, a traditional part of the Fourth of July picnic, are available at exceptionally low prices right now. Melons weighing as much as 50 pounds are pouring from fields in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina. Blueberries also are a very good bargain.

Other berries—raspberries, gooseberries, dewberries, blackberries and the like—are more moderately priced except where they're from local fields. Good buys are still to be had in Florida oranges and grapefruit, California oranges and some types of plums from California.

REEDSVILLE, Wis. (AP)—Arthur Wagner took extra precautions to prevent irrational hunters from mistaking his brown riding horse for a deer. But he wasn't quite careful enough.

Wagner kept the $275 horse in the barn during Wisconsin's nine-day deer season.

Three minutes after the season closed, he let the horse into a pasture for exercise. A few minutes later, he heard a shot. He found the horse dead, shot through the chest with a shotgun slug.

Kelly Starts Work On Addition

Ground Broken For 145-Foot By 250-Foot One-Story Structure

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company today announced ground has been broken on a project to increase production facilities at the local plant.

Preliminary work has been started towards the construction of a large addition to the curing room on the north wing of the plant.

The new building will be 145 feet wide by 250 feet long and will be constructed of concrete block, corrugated fibre glass and corrugated siding with a built-up comb roof.

Completely Automatic Charles L. Herath, chief engineer for Kelly-Springfield, said the new curing room will be completely automatic throughout. It will house dual type curing presses and have a forced ventilation system.

Curing presses perform the work of vulcanizing tires.

The Sensabaugh Contracting Company was awarded the contract for the grading and bank excavation.

General Contract Not Let The new curing room will be built at the same level as the one in the north wing, and will have no basement.

Earth will be filled in to the B or first floor level, and a concrete slab poured for the floor.

Subsurface exploration of the site was conducted as the first step to getting the project underway.

Herath said that while the general contract for the building has not been let, the project is to be completed by the end of this year.

Three Freed; One Fined In Street Fight

The "Battle Royal" which was staged early Sunday, June 23, by more than 100 persons and seven police officers in the 300 block of Central Avenue, reached a climax this morning in Police Court.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick presided at the hearing which attracted a standing room crowd.

The defendants in the case were Charles Denmark, John E. Wilson, John W. Cooper Jr., and James Martin, all charged with disturbance of the peace on warrants obtained by Lt. John Sherry and Lt. James E. Van.

Fail To Prove Case

Edward J. Ryan represented the Wilson youth, while Harold F. Naughton represented Cooper, Martin and Denmark.

Magistrate Dick dismissed the charges against Wilson, Cooper and Martin because the state failed to prove its case, and found Denmark guilty. Denmark was fined $100 and court costs.

Six police officers, headed by Lt. Sherry, took the witness stand and related incidents concerning the disturbance which attracted a crowd early June 23.

Lt. Sherry stated that the affair started after two men appeared at police headquarters and told authorities they were stopped while entering Darr's Restaurant on Central Avenue.

Officer Harold Bennett testified that a teenage boy and girl made separate reports to him on his front Street, beat that they were stopped while entering the eating establishment. The boy and girl said a crowd of men were in front of the place and when they pulled up, the men started pounding on their cars.

Two Officers Struck

Testimony this morning revealed that during the fracas Officer Frank Behn was knocked down. Sgt. James Brown was struck with a garden rake and Officer James Bolyard was pulled away from the patrol wagon.

Darr and his wife testified that they have had previous trouble in the neighborhood, and that some of their customers have complained about having their cars damaged while they were in the restaurant.

After the testimony of the officers and other witnesses, Magistrate Dick dismissed the cases against Wilson, Cooper and Martin because no one would identify who was fighting.

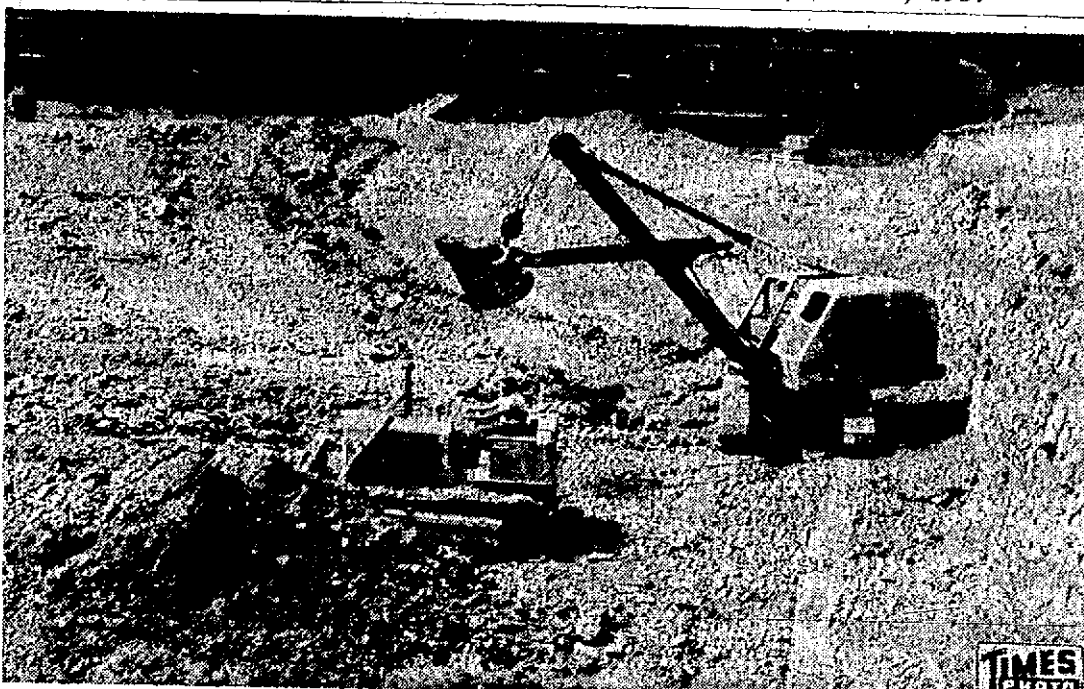

In dismissing the charges against the three men, Magistrate Dick warned them of the serious trouble which could have resulted from the "Battle Royal," and warned them to remain of good behavior in the future.

Face New Charges

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said warrants will be issued charging four escapees from the county jail with prison breach.

The four men, James A. Christman, 31, city; Walter Perry, 18, and his brother, Richard, 17, and Melvin Carder, of the Frostburg area.

They broke out late Sunday night and were recaptured within two hours. A steel bar was cut and the men wriggled through a 12-by-12-inch hole to freedom.

KELLY PROJECT STARTED—Ground has been broken for the new addition to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here. In the picture above a power shovel and bulldozer are shown excavating a tract of land adjacent to the north wing of the plant. The new addition will increase production facilities in the curing department. The Sensabaugh Contracting Company has the contract for the excavation work. The new plant addition will be 145 feet wide by 250 feet long.

Parking Ban On Bedford To Be Lifted

Parking restrictions on Bedford Street will remain in effect for a while longer despite federal government approval of a request to lift the ban, Mayor Roy W. Eves said today.

Mayor Eves said he had learned the Federal Bureau of Public Roads has approved a State Roads Commission recommendation that the no-parking restriction in the 300, 400 and 500 blocks of Bedford between Decatur and Marietta be lifted. The city had made the original request to the SRC which passed it on to the federal government with its approval. A citizens group from the affected area had strongly supported the move.

The reason the restrictions cannot be lifted at once, Eves said, is because the entire section of the contract for the Frederick Street improvement project in which the bans are contained, must be revamped, legalized and signed by the city and state.

Restrictions will be lifted after the revised contract is signed, Eves added. There was no estimate of the time necessary to complete the contract change, however.

Local Man Hurt In Accident

A 44-year-old local man was seriously injured Sunday night in a one-car accident on U. S. Route 50, approximately 10 miles west of Clarksburg, W. Va.

Hospital attaches this morning said Frank Crisci, who gave his address as 205 Baltimore Avenue, is suffering from a fractured skull, severe facial lacerations and internal injuries. His condition is listed as "serious."

Attaches said the accident occurred on U. S. Route 50 at approximately the same spot where a 42-year-old Durham, N. C., truck driver was killed earlier in the evening. Four passengers in the truck were hospitalized as a result of this accident.

Police said Crisci was traveling alone at the time of the mishap. In some manner his vehicle left the highway and while attempting to return to the road it over-turned.

He was admitted to St. Mary's Hospital in Clarksburg.

License Hearing Set By Board

Pays Half Fine For Drinking

An unusual sentence popped up in Police Court this morning, and will go down in the records as "one for the books."

Magistrate J. Milton Dick informed the defendant that he was charged with being drunk, and asked him how he wanted to plead to the charge.

The man told Judge Dick that he was only half drunk, and was pleading half drunk.

Magistrate Dick stated: "Very well, the court finds you half drunk and issues a half-fine. That will be $5 mister."

J. THOMAS REID

Researcher Honored For Dairy Work

J. Thomas Reid, Cumberland Native, Gets $1,000 Award

A native of Cumberland who is professor in the animal husbandry department at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., has received a $1,000 award and a gold medal for outstanding research in dairy production.

The presentation to J. Thomas Reid, son of F. Ernest Reid, Cumberland, was made at the awards program of the American Dairy Science Association at its annual meeting at Oklahoma State College at Stillwater Saturday night.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School, Class of 1937, Reid is rated as one of the outstanding men in the animal nutrition field in the nation. He has been author and co-author of 65 research papers during the past ten years.

Work In Nutrition

The major research contributions which gained him recognition for the $1,000 Borden award are in nutrition. These include investigations in mineral metabolism; the relation of level of feeding to fertility and lifetime performance of dairy cattle; levels of phosphates in the plasma and semen of bulls and discovery and perfection of the plant chromogen technique for measuring the digestibility of forages by ruminants.

Also, the use of antipyrine and tritium for measuring body water animals as compared with slaughter data; special methods to measure the intake and digestibility of forage by grazing animals; body composition studies of farm animals, and the influence of date of harvest on digestibility of forages.

Seven years ago the State College of Agriculture scientist was awarded the American Feed Manufacturers' Award in dairy nutrition. He also received a Guggenheim Fellowship to study at the National Institute for Research in dairying at Shinfield, England, in 1955-56.

Reid has been on the animal husbandry staff at Cornell since 1948, having previously served on the dairy husbandry staffs at Michigan State University and Rutgers University.

He worked his way through the University of Maryland. He was employed in the dairy barns and took summer jobs on dairy and livestock farms. As an undergraduate he was also a member of the dairy cattle judging and livestock judging teams. His bachelor of science was conferred with honors in 1941.

Member Of Groups

He obtained a master of science degree and doctor of philosophy degree with distinction, both from Michigan State University, in 1943 and 1945, respectively.

Reid is a member of the American Dairy Science Association, the American Society of Animal Production, Sigma Xi, and others. In recent years he has become a member of the editorial board of the Journal of Dairy Science, a member of the National Research Council Committee on Fertility of Animals, and was elected to membership in the British Society of Nutrition.

He has also been chairman of the pastures and forages section of the American Society of Animal Production and is currently associate chairman of a national joint committee on grassland farming. This year he was appointed as consultant to the State Experiment Station Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Strike Hits At Cement Work Here

Industry-Wide Move Slows Production; Illinois Firm Signs

The first settlement was signed yesterday in Illinois in an industry-wide labor dispute in the cement industry which has curtailed construction projects in the Cumberland area.

A contract granting 500 workers at the Oglesby, Ill., plant of Marquette Cement Manufacturing Company a wage increase package of more than 16 cents was signed by the company and United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers Union.

Because Marquette is one of the nation's major producers, union officials said they are hopeful that the pattern set would be adopted quickly by other firms.

However, there was no word from mediation talks between the union and Medusa Portland Cement Company at York, Pa., considered key negotiators for the important Eastern segment of the industry.

Operations Curtailed

Locally, Roy Hubble, resident engineer for the E. J. Albrecht Construction Company which is working on the Cumberland Flood project, said his curtailed operations became effective this morning.

Hubble stated that he has enough cement on hand to complete this week's work, but if the walkout continues for any length of time his operations will be badly curtailed.

The engineer said some early moving work is being done, but the strike comes at a bad time, since his company is in a position to step-up its cement work.

A. H. Wilson, vice president of the Hazelwood Construction Company, said this morning that his firm is not as badly hit, since the company has a limited reserve supply on hand. However, Wilson said if the strike continues several weeks, the operations will be greatly affected.

Both Hazelwood and Albrecht obtain their cement from Alpha Portland Cement Company at nearby Manheim, W. Va. Workers at the Manheim plant walked off the job yesterday.

At Ilgerson, between 300 and 350 union employees of the Security plant of the North American Cement Corporation went on strike last Saturday. It was learned they have been working under terms of an old contract which expired May 1.

Hard To Change

Both Hubble and Wilson pointed out that since the flood control job is a government project, it would be almost impossible to cut "red tape" and secure cement from another company.

George K. Steiner, president and general manager of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company, said today his firm has a supply of cement on hand and won't be hurt for a while.

Steiner indicated that his company receives cement from other sources than those strikebound, and no immediate curtailment is foreseen. However, he said, the company might be hampered slightly in three or four weeks with certain type of work due to certain cement needed.

Officials of the State Roads Commission office said work will function properly for the next several weeks.

Throughout the east, more than 40 of the industry's 150 plants are reported down with more than 8,000 unionists on strike. One of the plants in operation is the Capital Plant at Martinsburg.

Minister Found Dead At His Home

Police Guard Young Father

While a 24-hour watch is being kept on Clarence Simms Jr., 22, of Newton Street, Keyser in Memorial Hospital here, the funeral of his five-week-old daughter, Cathy Ann Simms, was held yesterday afternoon at the Roger Funeral Home in Keyser.

The father is reported in "satisfactory" condition in the hospital where he was taken after drinking a quantity of rat poison and disinfectant and slapping himself after he had used an ice pick to stab his daughter last Friday night at their home. The infant died Saturday morning from her wound.

Trooper C. C. Oliver of the West Virginia State Police said Simms is unable to be questioned in the case. The man told Trooper Oliver that he had stabbed the child following a "family argument." A murder warrant has been issued and will be served on Simms when he is able to leave the hospital.

Surviving the child beside her father are her mother, Mrs. Anna Shirley (Washington) Simms, 540 Virginia Avenue, Keyser; a brother, Robin Simms, at home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Washington, Keyser; paternal grandfather, C. E. Simms, Braddock, Pa.; maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, and paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Martha Bush, all of Keyser.

State Income Tax Collection Ahead

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland's income tax collections for the fiscal year just ended exceeded estimates by $149,378.96, the State comptroller's office reported today. The increase was more than offset by a $632,350 drop in State sales tax receipts, the comptroller said.

New Suspect Held In Death Of Housewife

Man Tells Police He Hitchhiked In Area After Auto Wrecked

ANNAPOLIS, (AP) — The latest man picked up by Anne Arundel County police in their murder investigation told officers he was hitchhiking through the area because he wrecked his car in Georgia.

Police Chief, Wilbur Wade said the 28-year-old man had shoe heels that "compared favorably" with heel prints found at the scene of the slaying of Mrs. Margaret V. Harold. But the man in custody has reddish brown hair instead of black, as the killer was described.

The man was picked up yesterday two miles north of the cemetery where Mrs. Harold was buried, only two hours after her funeral was held. The 28-year-old Arbutus housewife was fatally shot June 26 on a lonely road about 12 miles west of here.

Chief Wade said the man told police he had an account in a Savannah, Ga., bank, and a check proved this false. He also said license number given by the man turned out to belong to someone in New Jersey.

The police chief said he planned to have the man viewed in a lineup, probably today, by the Army sergeant who was with Mrs. Harold when she was slain. M. Hudson, 31, was given a lie detector test yesterday at Fort Meade, Md.

New Jersey Firm Gets Contract

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 16½ million dollar contract to build a 1,000-home development at Ft. Meade for use by employees in the National Security Agency has been awarded to a New Jersey firm.

A spokesman for the Baltimore District engineer said yesterday that Anthony P. Miller Inc. of Atlantic City, N.J., already has begun to move equipment onto the site and the project is scheduled for completion about June 1, 1959.

The NSA is in the process of moving from old quarters at Arlington Hall, Va., to the huge new 35 million dollar building at Meade.

Yanks Open Two-Game Lead, Nipping Birds

45,276 See 3-2 Win On 22d Homer By Mantle

By TONY GALLI

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees have opened up their biggest lead of the season thanks to a tried and true combination—Mantle and Ford.

Night boxscores on Page 17

Mickey slugged a tenth-inning home run, his 22nd of the year, and Whitey made his first appearance on the mound since May 21 last night as the Yankees squeezed out a 3-to-2 victory over Baltimore before 45,276 frenzied Oriole fans.

Coupled with Chicago's 5-to-2 loss to Detroit's Jim Bunning, the victory gave Casey Stengel a two-game lead over the White Sox.

Far From Easy

But it was far from easy for the Yankee All-Stars, who are now 24-and-12 on the road. It was seven innings before they could get to Skinny Brown and when they did, the belligerent Orioles kayaked Johnny Kucks to tie it up in the final two innings.

After Mantle belted a one-out George Zverink pitch high and deep into the right-field bleachers, the Orioles got the tying run to second before Bob Grim struck out Jim Busby to send home the largest night audience in Baltimore history.

Ford, who has been nursing a shoulder injury most of the season, came in from the bullpen in a bizarre eighth inning which saw Kucks fail to touch the bag covering first and Whitey pick Bob Nieman off third only to have it disallowed because time had been called by the umpires.

Ford retired the side, however, and Grim got the final out of the game to seal Whitey's third victory in four decisions this year. The Kansas City Athletics snapped an 11-game losing streak, 10 to 3, at Cleveland with five runs, including three on catcher Tim Thompson's homer, in the first inning off Early Wynn.

Nats Stop Red Sox

And Washington ended Boston's five-game win streak, 5 to 4, when Ike Delock walked Bob Usher with the bases loaded in the seventh inning.

The Milwaukee Braves were beaten, 9 to 5, by St. Louis but held their half-game National League lead on the basis of Cincinnati's 6-to-0 afternoon defeat at Chicago. Brooklyn's Don Drysdale cooled off the New York Giants, 3 to 0, and Philadelphia sent Pittsburgh into last place, 5 to 4, with a five-run eighth inning.

Running scattered eight hits for Detroit as he registered his ninth victory in 11 decisions. Jim Wilson took the brunt of the 'Tigers' 12-hit attack, including home run No. 16 by Charley Maxwell and Al Kaline's four-bagger in the sixth. Singles by Frank House, Frank Bolling, Bunning and Harvey Kuenn brought in two more runs to clinch it in the sixth.

Eight St. Louis hits, nine walks and four Milwaukee errors, two apiece by Eddie Mathews and Johnny Logan, helped the Cardinals end the Braves' six-game winning streak.

Happy Birthday!

The Cards scored five unearned runs in the third inning and wrapped it up with two each in the fifth and sixth innings. Bob Buhl shooting for his tenth victory, took his third loss instead and Herm Wehmeier won in relief. Hank Aaron and Wes Covington routed Murry Dickson in the fifth with homers.

Cubs rookie Dick Drott celebrated his 21st birthday by blanking the Redlegs on four hits. Drott, a native of Cincinnati, also struck out eight to boost his strikeout total to 66 for his first 104 innings in the majors. Walt Morin homered for the Bruins off loser Joe Nuxhall.

The largest Polo Grounds gathering of the year, 37,409, saw Young Drysdale outpitch Johnny Antonelli with a five-hit performance. Antonelli suffered his seventh defeat in 13 decisions when Jim Gilliam hit a leadoff homer in the first inning.

Law Of Averages Catches Denver

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Time and the opposition finally caught up with the Denver Bears of the Class AAA American Assn. The Bears lost their first home opener in 10 years of postwar professional baseball this season. Louisville turned the trick 7-8 on an unearned run in the ninth inning.

Casey Picks Six Yankees For All-Star

CHICAGO, Ill. — Eight members of the world champion New York Yankees yesterday were named to the 1957 American League All-Star team which will be directed by Yankee Manager Casey Stengel.

The American League, presenting an all-veteran starting lineup, meet the National League All-Stars at St. Louis next Tuesday.

Stengel, who named the team with the exception of the starting lineup, selected six Yankees in addition to catcher Yogi Berra and centerfielder Mickey Mantle who were selected in a public poll.

Detroit placed four players while Chicago, Cleveland, and Baltimore had three each, Boston two and Kansas City and Washington one each.

Aside from Berra and Mantle, the starting lineup will find Vic Wertz, Cleveland, at first base; Nellie Fox, Chicago, second base; George Kell, Baltimore, third base; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit, shortstop; Ted Williams, Boston, left field, and Al Kaline, Detroit, right field.

Stengel, who also will select the starting pitcher, named three left-handers and four right-handers to his staff. They include southpaws Billy Pierce, Chicago; Bob Shantz, New York; Don Mossi, Cleveland; and right-handers Bob Grim, New York; Billy Loos, Baltimore; Early Wynn, Cleveland; and Jim Bunning, Detroit.

Elston Howard of New York and Gus Triandos of Baltimore were the reserve catchers selected by Stengel. Backing up the starting infield will be Joe DeMaestri, Kansas City; Frank Malzone, Boston; and Gil McDougald, Bobby Richardson and Bill Skowron, all of New York.

Stengel's reserve outfielders will be Minnie Minoso of Chicago, Charley Maxwell, Detroit, and Roy Sievers, Washington.

PRO TWOSOME
CHICAGO (UPI)—Diane Garrett will marry Jerry Penna on Aug. 13. Both are golf professionals, the groom-to-be the son of Toney, the club designer.

Pen-Mar Little Leaguers In All-Star Game Friday

The seventh-annual Pen-Mar Little League All-Star game will be staged Friday, 6 p. m., at Barrelville. The six-team loop has been divided into two clubs with Barrelville (12-0), Cresaptown (5-8) and Ellerslie (3-10) players to oppose those from LaVale Orioles (8-5), LaVale Maroons (5-7) and Cresaptown DAV (5-9).

The contest will be a six-inning affair with each team playing its nine players two innings each. Umpires working the game will be Gary Shook, Mill Kyhos, Colin Barich and Al James.

League officials also announced that the Pen-Mar circuit will participate in the state tournament which will be run off in August. The Pen-Mar Stars were eliminated by Froshburg last summer in the first round.

They were co-champs of the state in 1955, sharing honors with Easton.

Three makeup games are also to be played with their dates to be announced later. The contests are LaVale Maroons vs. Barrelville, LaVale Orioles vs. Barrelville and Cresaptown vs. Ellerslie. The league will be idle this Friday and then resumes play next Tuesday.

Dick Drott, Cubs Rookie, Comes Of Age

By International News Service
Dick Drott, rookie righthander of the Chicago Cubs, has come of age.

The husky Cincinnati celebrated his 21st birthday yesterday by blanking his hometown Redlegs, 5 to 0, on four hits. While evening his record at 7-7, Drott fanned eight batters to boost his strikeout total to 66 for his first 104 innings in the majors.

Throwing shutout ball is nothing new to this rookie-of-the-year candidate.

Drott, called another "Ewell Blackwell" because of his whip-like action, topped the Pacific Coast League with his 184 whiffs while winning 13 for Los Angeles last season.

Yesterday's was his second straight shutout. Twelve days ago, Drott blanked the Phillies, 9 to 0, on three hits.

And three weeks before that, the new mainstay of the Bruins struck out 15 Braves for a new Chicago pitching record.

Three 'Chair Streaks Put On Line Today

No less than three winning streaks are to be placed on the line this evening in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

Biggest of them all is the 11 straight taken by the front-running Outdoor Club. Runnerup Elks have put together a four-game string while seventh-place Ritter's AC has won its last two starts.

Elks Meet VFW
The Outdoorersmen will meet Pittsburgh Plate Glass today at Fort Hill Field. Elks take on Veterans of Foreign Wars at Stichter Field and Ritter's is at Celanese to meet the Silkmen.

Knight of Columbus and Moose, both losing their last three contests, tangle at Allegany Field in the other action.

Outdoor Club already owns a pair of wins over Pittsburgh Plate, taking 12-0 and 9-3 victories. The Glassers are in fourth place with a 6-5 mark but are only a half game in back of the third-standing VFW.

Split With Vets
Elks' recent surge has shoved them into the runnerup slot. They have a two-game edge over VFW and will be after their 10th victory in 13 outings. The clubs have split in their two games to date with Elks taking a 9-1 decision and dropping a 9-6 clash.

The Vets, who have lost three of their last five starts, are 6-4 for the season.

Ritter's ACers, if nailing their third in a row and Moose loses to the Caseys, can slip into sixth place. Ritter's has a 3-8 log with Moose showing four victories in 12 contests. Celanese has been able to get only one triumph in 10 attempts.

The Caseys, heading the second division with a 4-7 mark, must win in order to keep fifth place. They have a half-game lead over Moose.

All of today's games start at 6:15.

Helmet Numerals For Collegiate Gridders Urged

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The National Assn. of Collegiate Commissioners urged yesterday that numerals two to three inches high be placed on the sides of football helmets.

The recommendation was one of six approved by 18 representatives of 11 major conferences in a two-day meeting that ended last night. The standardized, larger numerals are sought by press photographers as a means of better identification.

The commissioners also:

1. Reaffirmed the policy of various conferences to exchange information on violations of rules and eligibility of players.
2. Discussed the athlete's letter of intent before joining a team.
3. Set Oct. 28 as the date for a basketball officials' clinic to be held at Berkeley, Calif.
4. Proposed a football rules examination to be given to officials in all leagues before the season starts.
5. Unanimously endorsed President Eisenhower's youth fitness program.

Paul Waner Condition Reported As 'Good'

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—The news was good today about Paul Waner, major league immortal, who has been hospitalized here with pneumonia.

Waner, who was placed in baseball's Hall of Fame because of his batting feats, was reported recovering and should be out of the hospital in three days.

GOOD LUCK, FUTURE BIRD—Jack Fisher, former Frostburg Little League star, gets a fond farewell from his aunt, Mrs. Jacob Evans as he departs today for Baltimore to work out with the Orioles prior to joining Knoxville of the Sally League. Jack, who was graduated last month from Richmond Academy, Augusta, Ga., as the outstanding high school pitcher in the Peach State, signed with the Orioles last week. He visited the home of his aunt and uncle at 44 West College Avenue, Frostburg, prior to launching his professional career.

Middlecoff Qualifies For British Open

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, two-time American Open champion, shot a second round of 73 over the St. Andrews Old Course today and apparently qualified for the British Open Golf Championship with a 36-hole total of 139.

Middlecoff had a 75 yesterday over the shorter, easier New Course. His 148 appeared to be well within the qualifying limit, which is expected to be about 150. The low scoring 100 players in the starting field of 290 will qualify for the 72-hole tournament proper, starting tomorrow.

Middlecoff's 73, one over par for the Old Course, was made just after Harold Henning of South Africa had equalled the course record with a round of 33-34-67 and a 139 total. Bobby Locke of South Africa, three-time British Open champion, led the early finishers after 36 holes with 67-70-137.

Frank Stranahan, two-time British Amateur champion who won campaigns on the American pro circuit, shot a two-under-par 70 on the Old Course for a two-day total of 141.

Two other Americans apparently failed to qualify. Amateur Larry Carpenter Jr. of Springfield, N.J., had an 81 on the Old Course for 160 and pro Roger Peacock of Silver Springs, Md., took 79 on the New Course for 153.

Most of the other Americans in the field were late starters today.

Jack Fisher Looks Forward To Days As Baltimore Bird

By J. SUTER KEGG
Evening Times Sports Editor

John Howard (Jack) Fisher is a handsome, well-built boy of 18. He is an average youngster in just about everything—everything, that is, except baseball.

When this six-two, 205-pound lad takes the mound and stares into the faces of opposing batters he becomes a boy doing a man's job.

That's why he was eyed by all 16 major league teams while a high school senior this past spring in Georgia and that's why the Baltimore Orioles saw fit to sign him to a major league contract on Monday of last week.

Started In Frostburg
Jack, who got his baseball start in Frostburg's Little League, pitching the Giants of George Hawkins to the championship the first year the loop was organized in the Mountain City, is full of confidence.

He left the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Evans, at 44 West College Avenue in Frostburg today for Baltimore where he will work out with the Birds until they hit the road following the holiday doubleheader with Washington on Thursday.

Jack then will head back for Dixie where he'll join the Knoxville Smokies of the Class A Sally League. His stay with the Smokies he hopes is only of a temporary nature—and that it will be if he shows the winning form he displayed as a strong-armed schoolboy.

It's a mighty big jump from high school to the big leagues but Baltimore brass feels that Fisher has the stuff to reach the top in a short time. That's why he was signed to a major league pact.

This means he can be assigned to a minor league club no lower than Class B. It also reduces the Orioles' control over his services from seven to four years. In other words, if he fails to become a big-time Bird with the affable schoolboy star doesn't profess to know everything about the art of pitching despite his brilliant record. In fact, he says, he learned more than he thought possible in the half hour he threw under the watchful eye of Richards, Brecheen and Company.

Big Decision
Signing with the Orioles was a big decision for Jack. He had numerous scholarship offers from Dixie colleges and universities, but decided on baseball because he thought he could "kill two birds (no pun intended) with one stone." He hopes to attend the University of Georgia two quarters every year until he gets his degree.

Casting his lot with Baltimore wasn't because he would be playing in his native state (he was born in Frostburg). Rather, Jack was impressed by the promises and sincerity of Richards as well as the deal on the major league contract.

Jack, who pitched several games with Zihlman in the Penn-Mar League the past two summers, gives credit for much of his success to high school coach, A. L. Williams, an old minor league catcher. "He's the greatest," Fisher said as he explained how Williams had won seven straight state championships at Richmond. "He always told me that a player's legs were as important as his arm and every day we had to run 2 1/2 miles to keep my legs in shape," Jack declared.

Senators' 40 Runs May Be DD Record

The run-run Senators, tallying almost at will, may have established a record for the Dapper Dan Little League when they routed the Indians, 40 to 2, yesterday at Allegany.

The attack featured a trio of homers by Al Kapton, two with the bases loaded, and John Roy's six hits in as many trips. Altogether the Senators collected 31 safeties.

The Red Sox were forced to play nine innings to eke out an 8-7 decision over the Athletics and the Giants won over the Pirates, 12-8, in other games yesterday.

Dave Martin's single, Bobby Robertson's sacrifice and Homer Hardinger's base hit in the last of the ninth produced the run that gave Jim Wilson's Red Sox their fourth win in five starts in the Dan Division of the circuit.

Colin Smith, who relieved Willis in the second frame, and pitched until supplanted by Harold Hardinger in the eighth, struck out 10. He also drove in the tying run in the sixth with a triple after Craig Sisk had homered with a mate aboard.

Singles by Withrow and Rice gave the A's a 7-5 lead in the top of the eighth but Jimmy Graham singled home two runs in the same frame to knot the count at 7-all.

Harold Hardinger, Sisk and Smith had two hits each for the Red Sox. Jan Withrow had four of the A's eight hits and scored four of their seven runs. He banged a homer, double and two singles. Jimmy Bell smacked a two-bagger.

Carl Hubble held the Indians to three hits and fanned seven. Ronnie Manges and Tim Higon also hit round trippers for the leaders of the league's Abrams Division.

The Giants scored in every inning in taking the Pirates into camp. Billy Dean scattered eight hits, struck out 10 and made his season record 2-2. Jerry Young, Mike Miller and Mickey Keller of the Giants and Jewell and Siebert of the Pirates collected two hits each. Keller smacked a triple and double.

In a 6 p. m. game today at Penn Avenue, the Yankees and Cardinals will meet.

Mantle Nabs Spotlight On Kell's 'Night'

BALTIMORE, Md.—It was George Kell right at Memorial Stadium but Mickey Mantle stole the show from the veteran third baseman.

Everything was going George's way until the top of the tenth inning.

Before the game he was presented with gifts from fans and teammates commemorating his 2,000th major league hit and overall fine play. And in the bottom of the ninth George scored the tying run that sent the game to the New York Yankees into extra innings.

But in the top of the tenth, Mantle came up with the bases empty and drove reliever George Zaverlik's first pitch 425 feet into the rightfield bleachers giving the Yanks a 3-2 victory.

A crowd of 45,276—third largest since Baltimore returned to the major leagues—saw the tight game.

The ceremonies were arranged by Nelson Bond, Baltimore sportsman, who said the gifts were "the tokens of the baseball fans of Maryland and surrounding areas of our respect, admiration and devotion to team play, courage and sportsmanship."

Kell received a silver tray with the photographs of his Orioles teammates engraved upon it, a colorful embroidered table mat, a portable television set from his teammates and an oil portrait of himself.

"On behalf of my family and myself, I want to thank everybody who made this evening possible. And most of all you fans who have been so loyal to me," was Kell's response to the gifts.

Lonaconing Win Streak Hits Eight

BI-STATE PONY LEAGUE

Team	W	L
Ellerslie	11	0
LaVale	10	1
Midland	7	3
Frostburg	5	5
Cresaptown	5	6

Ellerslie scored six runs yesterday in the bottom of the fourth to whip Midland, 10 to 3, and stay undefeated in the Bi-State Pony League, but the pacesetters are being pushed by onrushing Lonaconing.

The 'Coney kids pushed over a run in the last of the tenth to nose out LaVale, 3-2, for their eighth straight victory. The win moved Lonaconing to within a half-game of second-place Mt. Savage which beat Frostburg, 9 to 5.

In the day's other game, Cresaptown turned back Corriganville, 4 to 2.

LaVale played the game with Lonaconing under protest, manager Ted Femi disputing a play in the top of the tenth which resulted in a double play. Bill Garlitz's double with two on drove in the winning run for 'Coney.

Jimmy Pollack, who relieved Jim Getty in the third, struck out nine and got credit for the win.

Garlitz paced the 'Coney attack with a triple, double and single in five trips. Willets garnered three of LaVale's six blows.

Ellerslie made it 11 wins in a row by taking Midland into camp.

Jim Cook made his record 6-0 by twirling a six-hitter while his mates rapped Green and Winters for 10 safeties, including a two-run homer and two singles in four trips by Jack Lowery and a pair of one-base knocks by Don Lowery.

Mt. Savage remained two games back of the league leaders by defeating Frostburg, the eighth straight setback for the Mountain City aggregation.

The winners chalked up nine hits, including two doubles by Fay Otten and a triple by Leroy Morris. The win was the sixth against a single loss for Bobby Green, who started on the mound for Mt. Savage and was followed by Tommy Deffenbaugh and Buddy Barb. Among the four hits credited to Frostburg was a two-bagger by Jim Slittig.

Corriganville suffered its ninth straight setback by losing to Cresaptown.

Tommy Cecil, who was replaced by Gary Clingerman, in the final frame, got the win. Glenn Shaffer obtained a two-bagger and single for the losers while Clingerman accounted for two of Cresaptown's nine safeties.

Second Unitas Inked By Colts

BALTIMORE, (AP) — A second Unitas signed a Baltimore Colt contract today. He is Joe Unitas, a former University of Louisville tackle and the cousin of the Colts' quarterback, John.

End Bill Danenhauer from the College of Emporia, Kan., also signed today bringing the Colt roster to 42 players.

Joe Unitas was the Colts' 26th draft choice last January when he was picked as a "future" because he had one more year of eligibility remaining at Louisville. However, he dropped from school this spring in an attempt to make the Colt squad this season.

Danenhauer will be back for his second crack at the Colt lineup this summer. He worked out with the team last year but was not drafted before the season opened. He was the team's 17th draft choice in 1956.

A resident of Baltimore, Danenhauer is 6-foot-4 and weighs 240. Unitas, who is working in Pittsburgh, is 6-foot-3 and weighs 220.

Yesterday the Colts announced that quarterback Gary Kerkorian had reported he would not be with the team this year.

The former Stanford flash announced his retirement to practice law in California. He received his law degree last month from Georgetown University.

Needles, 1956 Kentucky Derby winner, first gained acclaim by winning the 1955 Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park as a 2-year-old.

Jaycees Risk Stove League Lead Tonight

The Jaycees and Exchange Club will meet under the lights at 8:15 today in a Hot Stove League contest at Penn Avenue Field.

The Jaycees took over the league lead last night by beating the Optimists, 5 to 1, at Penn Field. Phil Barbe held the losers to three hits and fanned eight.

The Jaycees nipped the offering of Mike Long for nine blows. Allan Stevenson banged a double and single and batted in three runs. Mike Aaron also garnered a two-bagger and single to extend his hitting streak to 10 safeties in as many official trips.

Clarence Kenn smacked a three-bagger and Kenny Davis had a two-base blow for the winners.

Peck, Lowery and Davidson accounted for the Optimists' hits.

The win gave Manager George Flynn's club a 6-1 record. The Elks dropped into second place with 5-2 by losing to B'nai B'rith.

In another game yesterday at Penn Avenue, Kiwanis nosed out the Lions in a 6-5 thriller when a single by Mike Clark in the last of the 12th scored Al Luck with the winning run.

Gary Henry, who relieved Brotemarkle in the seventh, was the winning pitcher and struck out 13 of the 18 batters to face him.

Ronnie Evans, Lions' starting hurler, fanned 11 in seven innings but Jimmy Stratton who came on in the 12th was charged with the loss.

Bosley pounded a triple and double, Brotemarkle rapped two singles. Mike Hadra blasted a triple and Johnny Price socked a two-bagger for the Kiwanians. Younger collected a three-base hit and two singles and Athey walked a home run and single for the Lions Club.

B'nai B'rith knocked off the B.P.O. Elks, 4-3, but no report was filed by the winning team.

Jack Fisher

Jack had no trouble recalling his greatest thrill on the diamond. It was pitching a near-perfect game against Boys Catholic of Augusta this season.

In the sixth inning, he got a 3-2 count on the second batter, then walked him. He picked him off first moments later and faced only the minimum 21 batters for the seven-inning game. That game, incidentally, was the second straight no-hitter for Jack during the '57 season which found him compiling a 7-0 record.

Fisher also played football and basketball at Richmond. He was fullback and quarterback in the grid sport, but played behind an All-American center in basketball, a 6-6 lad by the name of Wayne Richards.

Jack is the son of Major and Mrs. John Fisher, his dad presently being stationed in Germany with the Army. Jack's father

British Planning New Ship Service

LONDON (INS)—British businessmen and holiday makers will soon be able to travel from the first time from the heart of London to the heart of West Germany by ship alone.

Vessels will ply from a dock near London's famed Tower Bridge to Duisburg—over 100 miles down the Rhine. Nearly two-thirds of the 260-mile-long voyage will be along rivers—the lazy Thames and the surging Rhine. The journey is expected to take just over two days.

The highest peak in Greece is Mount Olympus, 9,730 feet.

City Escapes Full Fury Of Wind Storm

The Cumberland area apparently escaped the full fury of tornado-like winds which accompanied heavy rain over the weekend. A large number of trees, television antenna and awnings were reported damaged and power and telephone service was disrupted, mainly because of tree limbs which had blown over lines.

Two persons were injured as a result of the wind gusts which were said to have been close to 50 miles an hour on Saturday. The most seriously injured was Ezra Garlitz of Finzel, who was admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, with a broken back. Attaches said the 41-year-old Garlitz was repairing the roof of his barn when he was blown off the building by the high wind. He was reported in "fair" condition today.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital here was Philip L. Davis, 69, of Prospect Square, who suffered a scalp laceration and injuries to his right leg and ankle when he was struck by a limb of a tree near his home.

Storm damage in Elkins was estimated in excess of $200,000 by Mayor Harry E. Wilmoth, who said it would take nearly a week to clear away fallen trees and other debris from Saturday's wind storm.

There were no immediate reports of injuries, but Wilmoth said he felt the storm was "very definitely" a tornado.

Damage was heavy in a four-block area near the overhead bridge on U.S. 250 at Randolph Ave. Debris from roofs ripped from two homes smashed windows in a grocery supermarket.

State Police said at least four car owners reported damage from fallen trees.

84-Year-Old Student Walks To College

TOKKAWA, Okla. (AP)—An 84-year-old student walks four miles a day to attend junior college classes here.

Walter Marsh, a former St. Louis, Mo., music teacher, is believed to be the oldest freshman in the state. He is studying English and psychology but he is not after a degree, just "taking whatever I enjoy."

272 Gave Blood Here Yesterday

A total of 272 pints of blood was collected yesterday at the blood bank here.

The quota this month was 200 pints instead of the usual 150, because Cumberland was "in debt" to the blood collection center. Hospitals here have been using more blood than has been donated regularly.

Physicians on duty yesterday included Dr. Samuel Jacobson, Dr. James Johnson and Dr. Frank Cawley.

New members of the Cumberland Gallon Club include Wilmer Knepper, RD 5, Darus Zehr back, 535 Central Avenue; Donald Hilleary, 112 Henry Street; Daniel G. Ensmart, RD 1, Ridgeley; Mrs. Dorothy Weissenmiller, 705 North Meacham Street; A. G. Wallace, 751 Fayette Street; Thomas L. Murphy, 222 Washington Street; Arthur Beaulieu Jr., 312 Aviret Avenue; and Richard Swick, 12 Virginia Avenue.

Two Gallon donors include Miss Ollie V. Varner, 214 South Lee Street; Edward Mullan, Luteman Road; and Paul A. Mullan, 610 Fairview Avenue.

Three Gallon members added are Lewis G. Griggs, 626 Brookfield Avenue, and Miss Mary Soethe, 614 Hill Street.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason yesterday afternoon suspended 60-day jail sentences on three area men after they pleaded guilty to charges of petty larceny of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad property.

A fourth man, also charged in the theft of approximately 200 feet of copper cable from the railroad company, was found not guilty by Magistrate Mason.

Robert Edward Lipscomb, 44, of 608 Virginia Avenue, Guy Alarie Poland, 32, of Wiley Ford, W. Va., and Everett Ellsworth Goss, 45, of Oldtown, pleaded guilty to the charges brought by Lt. Robert E. Shroat of the B&O police department.

William Byron Seymour, 34, of 1005 Lexington Avenue, was found not guilty of theft in the case after testimony indicated he became associated with the others after the thefts occurred.

The cable was taken from a stockpile located behind the old tin mill along the C&O canal. A large drum of the cable was rolled over an embankment into tall weeds and grass, where the copper was cut from the drum, which weighed about 900 pounds.

The insulation on the cable was burned off and the copper wire later was sold to a junk dealer for $3.30 by one of the men. Later the brass wrappings from the cable also were sold for $1.

Testimony revealed all the men had been drinking. Seymour was arrested at the scene where the cable insulation had been burned off the wires.

Magistrate Mason placed the three men on probation for one year on condition they be of good behavior, refrain from drinking and stay off B&O property.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya assisted Lt. Shroat in the prosecution of the case for the state.

Jail Terms Suspended On Local Group

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Judge Byron Johnson listened to several prisoners plead guilty to theft charges and sentenced them.

When the courtroom was cleared of defendants, he reached into his pocket for his fountain pen.

It was gone.

Pigeons On Long Flight

The Allegany Racing Pigeon Club held a race from St. Louis to Cumberland with Blue's Boy from the Lost Loft of Dudley Shaler winning the last old bird race for the season.

Blue's Boy flew the 619 miles from St. Louis in 10 hours and 38 minutes.

Five lofts and 14 birds were liberated in St. Louis at 6:40 a. m. and the winner homed at 5:15 p. m. This is the first time the local club has had pigeons home the first day from such distances. The winner averaged slightly under 60 miles per hour.

The records for the first nine birds in the race:

Blue's Boy, 1,720.03 yards per minute; Jazz Bow, Excella Loft of M. M. ### Jail Terms Suspended On Local Group

Magistrate Donald W. Mason yesterday afternoon suspended 60-day jail sentences on three area men after they pleaded guilty to charges of petty larceny of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad property.

A fourth man, also charged in the theft of approximately 200 feet of copper cable from the railroad company, was found not guilty by Magistrate Mason.

Robert Edward Lipscomb, 44, of 608 Virginia Avenue, Guy Alarie Poland, 32, of Wiley Ford, W. Va., and Everett Ellsworth Goss, 45, of Oldtown, pleaded guilty to the charges brought by Lt. Robert E. Shroat of the B&O police department.

William Byron Seymour, 34, of 1005 Lexington Avenue, was found not guilty of theft in the case after testimony indicated he became associated with the others after the thefts occurred.

The cable was taken from a stockpile located behind the old tin mill along the C&O canal. A large drum of the cable was rolled over an embankment into tall weeds and grass, where the copper was cut from the drum, which weighed about 900 pounds.

The insulation on the cable was burned off and the copper wire later was sold to a junk dealer for $3.30 by one of the men. Later the brass wrappings from the cable also were sold for $1.

Testimony revealed all the men had been drinking. Seymour was arrested at the scene where the cable insulation had been burned off the wires.

Magistrate Mason placed the three men on probation for one year on condition they be of good behavior, refrain from drinking and stay off B&O property.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya assisted Lt. Shroat in the prosecution of the case for the state.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Judge Byron Johnson listened to several prisoners plead guilty to theft charges and sentenced them.

When the courtroom was cleared of defendants, he reached into his pocket for his fountain pen.

It was gone.

Pigeons On Long Flight

The Allegany Racing Pigeon Club held a race from St. Louis to Cumberland with Blue's Boy from the Lost Loft of Dudley Shaler winning the last old bird race for the season.

Blue's Boy flew the 619 miles from St. Louis in 10 hours and 38 minutes.

Five lofts and 14 birds were liberated in St. Louis at 6:40 a. m. and the winner homed at 5:15 p. m. This is the first time the local club has had pigeons home the first day from such distances. The winner averaged slightly under 60 miles per hour.
